We are pleased to announce that GlassRatner and The Marquee Group have entered into a strategic partnership. Leveraging a common drive to solve complex problems, this alliance will position the two firms to collaborate seamlessly on client engagements requiring expert financial modeling solutions.

As part of this partnership, GlassRatner has adopted Marquee's unique approach and methodology—allowing both firms to deliver powerful financial models along with expert analysis, while supporting decision-making and optimizing outcomes for clients.

"Robust financial models are one of the most critical decision-making tools for businesses today, and we are thrilled to be collaborating with the Marquee team," says Gary Lifman—Joint Managing Partner at Farber. He continues, "This arrangement will allow GlassRatner to broaden its financial modeling capabilities while continuing to provide analytical insight to help our clients make better decisions."

"This is an ideal partnership for both firms, with each of us bringing a unique skillset to the table," says Jon Zelman, Principal & Head of Consulting at Marquee. He adds, "We bring our nearly two decades of financial modeling expertise and GlassRatner brings 40+ years of holistic financial advisory support. This arrangement allows both firms to do what they do best and, more importantly, position our clients for success."

A powerful financial model can provide incredible insight to any business, however it must be built the right way—customized to tell the appropriate story to the target audience. This newly formed partnership will help clients tell their story and better understand how the decisions of today will impact their business tomorrow.
